

Akeley Allotments Report March 2015

Another year and the allotments that are worked are always well tended and look really impressive.

There are several allotments that were taken on with enthusiasm last year but this did not seem to last very long even after my getting in touch with the renters, who assured me they were about to start work.

This year, if an allotment has not been worked after the first 3 months of rental, I will make my first call and if, after 6 months, no sign of work has been done and no contact has been made about why this is, then the allotment will be made available for someone else if there is a waiting list.

I have been advertising the vacant allotments in the Akeley Newsletter but have not had any takers over the winter months. With the change of weather, hopefully by the end of April all of them will be taken and planting well underway.

Renewal letters are due to go out next month.
